

BEFORE YOU GO... TELL A STAR STORY!

Ancient people made pictures in the sky by connecting stars into shapes, people and animals. These pictures were called constellations and they made up stories about them.. Benjamin Banneker used the stars and constellations to predict the weather. Connect some stars to make your own constellation! Think of a story about your constellation-- how did it get there? What is it doing? Write your story down on the back of this sheet. Take a picture of your finished creation, tag WPCS on social media, and use #WPCSStarStory to be entered into a prize drawing!
